

Eric Hamar

Nang K'adangáas, also known as Eric Hamar, is a dedicated member of the Haida community and a longtime resident of Kasaan, Alaska. A devoted father of two daughters, he has spent much of his career in Tribal Government, while also working as a commercial fisherman and maintaining a professional presence in the arts. Traditionally trained as a carver, he learned at a young age the important role art plays in mental and emotional well-being. Nang K'adangáas is a member of the Culture Heals Committee for CCTHITA, and he is committed to preserving and promoting Haida culture for the benefit of future generations.